Of feasts and merry meetings, of weeping and of wail; And deeds of gallant daring I'll tell you in my tale. II In Burgundy there flourish'd a maid so fair to see. That in all the world together a fairer could not be. This maiden's name was Kriemhild; through her in dismal strife Full many a prowest warrior thereafter lost his life. III Many a fearless champion, as such well became Woo'd the lovely lady; she from none had blame. Matchless was her person, matchless was her mind. This one maiden's virtue grac'd all womankind.

Kriemhilda was the name she bore, and she attained such loveliness, That many a swordsman had for her his life and name to sacrifice. 3 This lovely virgin to adore to no one could discredit bring, Her hand did many a warrior seek, repulsion could in none upspring. Most beautiful to look upon the maiden was beyond compare; The damsel's affability all women it would grace to share.
